Low Income Form 2009-2010

Either you (if an independent student) or your parent (if a dependent student) reported Low Income for 2008 on the FAFSA and did not report any untaxed income on the Verification Worksheet. According to the 2008 Poverty Guidelines for the 48 Contiguous States and the District of Columbia a single individual must have income totaling $10,400 to subsist at the poverty level. Please review the chart below and consider what sources of income you may have not reported previously. Any cash support or money paid on either you or your parent's behalf is considered untaxed income and must be reported on the Other Income line. If you live with a friend or relative, this is considered in-kind support and the estimated value of the room and board must be reported on the Non-spouse Contributing Member line. We cannot continue processing your financial aid until this form is returned.
